Dear Mark,

Thank-you for the wonderful presentation you gave us on Active Shooter training last week. Our clients and colleagues all took away insightful preparation tips and a plan of action should we ever be faced with this type of crisis situation at work.

You kept our audience engaged the entire time with the stories, studies and statistics you shared. We all learned a lot and now have a guide in place.

I would highly recommend this training for any business that wants to help educate and prepare their staff for better chances of survival in the event an active shooter incident would occur. As you said, these preparation techniques can empower individuals to make life-saving decisions. I have personally shared what I've learned with other staff members, colleagues and family.

Best regards,

Bronwyn Allen
